Salyer Speaks at Workshop for North Carolina Housing Code Officials

Attorney Chris Salyer of The Law Firm of Hutchens, Senter & Britton, P.A., recently spoke to members of the North Carolina Association of Housing Code Officials during their annual seminar.

“I appreciated the opportunity to discuss the issues and challenges we face in handling foreclosures as well as discussing the challenges code officials face in dealing with foreclosure properties,” says Salyer.

Salyer covered the hot topic of foreclosure, which crosses over into the Housing Code Officials’ area of service, giving members a background of the foreclosure process and touching on foreclosure-related issues that pertain to their work in the field.

The North Carolina Association of Housing Code Officials is a State Organization committed to Housing Code enforcement through the promotion of technical, legal, and the administrative quality of Housing Code enforcement; the education of the public and the representation of officials whose duties include enforcement and/or administration of Housing Ordinances in North Carolina.
